A man with a shaved head, wearing sunglasses and a white long-sleeved shirt, stands in front of a light-colored brick wall. To his left is a white flag on a pole, and to his right is a flag with vertical stripes of red, white, and blue. A framed picture hangs on the wall behind him.

The image shows two pages of a handwritten ledger, likely a financial record, pinned to a corkboard. The pages are filled with dense, handwritten entries in a cursive script. The ledger is organized into columns, with the leftmost column containing dates (e.g., 1/1, 1/2, 1/3, etc.). The subsequent columns contain descriptions of transactions and monetary amounts. The top page is pinned with a yellow pushpin, and the bottom page is pinned with a red pushpin. A blue pushpin is also visible on the bottom page. The handwriting is consistent throughout, suggesting a single person maintained the record.

A photograph of a document with a grid of numbers, pinned to a corkboard with two blue pushpins. The document appears to be a page from a book or a ledger, showing a table of numbers arranged in rows and columns. The numbers are small and densely packed. The document is pinned to a corkboard with two blue pushpins, one at the top center and one at the bottom right. The corkboard has a textured, brown surface.
